

Be prepared... Celox Saves Lives.

Product Launch

CELOX GAUZE for US Military & Emergency responders

MedTrade, Crewe, UK is proud to announce the launch of its Celox Gauze, life saving product, to US military and emergency medical professionals in conjunction with Sam Medical, OR, USA.

Celox Gauze™ is a unique emergency product. It has all the power of Celox presented on an easy to use gauze. It was designed to stop life-threatening bleeding when packed into a wound void and works fantastically. Just pack the wound and apply pressure.

During in vivo testing the new Celox Gauze has consistently given 100% success in a wide range of severe bleeding wound models including difficult to treat penetrating trauma and femoral artery bleeding.

Since its introduction to the US market in 2006 Celox's™ ability to rapidly clot blood has made it the haemostat of choice for many US military, police, fire and ambulance medics and now also for workplace first aid. Celox™ has been demonstrated to rapidly and reliably stop major bleeding. It works independently of body temperature and is able to clot blood in the presence of anti-coagulants such as heparin, warfarin and Coumadin.

Craig Hardy, CEO of MedTrade, said " Celox™ Gauze is an outstanding emergency medical device. It has been a true pleasure to see it come through from an early stage development to the fantastically effective product it is now. We are proud to be working with Sam Medical to offer such an easy and effective product to US emergency professionals".

www.CeloxMedical.com or www.sammedical.com

Or email Care@CeloxMedical.com for more details.

